

Michael Ownbey

Michael Ownbey is a Consulting Partner for The Ken Blanchard Companies®. His style is practical in nature; he creates a very solution-minded experience and always with an end-user focus.

Michael has been training or facilitating programs since 1998. Specific areas of expertise are overall professional development, relationship management, and process improvement. He has also written a bench-strength assessment, which is a critical tool for identifying and retaining talent in companies. Michael has been integral in the development and evolution of Blanchard's online content delivery. He has been the primary partner for helping clients create successful engagements with sustainable results.

Previous professional roles include Director of Operations Excellence for Rock Bottom Restaurants Inc., where he led a ten-member team to create dedicated departments for three restaurant concepts and supervised all development and delivery of competency training and talent management. Before that he was Director of Training, responsible for all management leadership curriculum.

Michael earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from University of North Carolina.

Michael enjoys skiing and hiking in his spare time.
